Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 29 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Sunshine and showers in the day, dry and chilly nights.

Today:
Sunny spells and the occasional scattered shower to start. Showers developing more widely into the afternoon as further cloud moves in and perhaps turning wintry over high ground. Perhaps the isolated shower of hail. Feeling cold, especially in the breeze. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Cloud breaks up into the night, and showers die away leading to a dry and chilly night with potential rural frosts. Towards the morning the occasional shower starts up again. Minimum temperature 0 deg C (32 deg F).

Friday:
A bright and chilly start before further patchy cloud develops and brings scattered showers with it. Turning dry again into the night. Staying cold. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Sunshine and showers in the day with dry and chilly nights on the weekend. A band of rain then arrives from the west Monday, bringing strong winds and lower temperatures.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.